

GDI – Your Partner In Success

Established in late 2000, GDI's roots are in education technology, having signed on as Mimio's first partner in early 2001. From the beginning, our mission has been to deliver value to our dealers.

As a value-added distributor focused primarily on the Classroom Technology segment, our commitment has always been to provide premium pre and post sales support to all our dealers through our extensive knowledge base gained by having served the dealer community in education technology for over 15 years. From providing recommendations on product solutions, to assisting with deal registrations, we provide a suite of services unmatched in the traditional world of distribution. When coupled with our strong logistics network, deep inventories across all our product categories, and the ability to provide same day shipping, we have positioned ourselves to be a valued resource intimately tied to our dealer's success.

We now carry the full line of Boxlight Mimio products from interactive panels, projectors and whiteboards to collaboration software to tablets, doc cam's and assessment tools, and can recommend the right product to match up with your customers needs. In short we understand the Interactive Classroom Technology space and can leverage that expertise to help grow your business.

We look forward to partnering with you.
