Strike Releases a New Smart Device Stand: Portable, Light and Minimalistic

Brisbane, October 9, 2017 – Strike Group, the world-leading manufacturer and developer of innovative handsfree technology, has released its highly-anticipated brand-new product: The Strike Puck Stand.

The Strike Puck Stand is a smart device holder designed with convenience, cost, and performance in mind.

Portable, light and minimalistic: The Strike Puck Stand's silicon rubber material and weighted base grips your smartphone and tablet in 3 positions.

"Our Strike Puck Stand is perfect for use in any situation. Our customers currently use the stand in their office, in their kitchen, on their bedside tables, at meetings, and even on planes," says Chris Ryan, CEO of Strike Group.

Once you slot your phone or tablet into the stand's groove, the user can work at ease while they listen to music, read their eBook, or watch their video handsfree. The stand is compatible with devices .5 inches thick or less.

The user can secure and stand their device in three different angles: slanted, titled, and upright. The Strike Puck Stand's compact size and portability means the user can take it anywhere they go.

The Strike Puck Stand can be purchased on the Strike website www.strike.com.au/products/strike-tablet-and-phone-puck-stand.
